

KHANATURAL

SEPTEMBER 2024

OATS IS GOAT

LAUGH
17 TIMES
A DAY

The trending
Lee Boshoff
In the Netherlands

We will never stop providing the best content related to wellness in a magazine. It is my commitment and the entire Khanatural Magazine team to always provide the latest and most substantive content on the local and international health wellness scene because we believe our readers deserve the best.

Khabonina
Q

Editor-in-Chief

Editor's Note

KHANATURALMAG

In this issue

let's follow how a South African actress, now based in the Netherlands has evolved & changed her perspective. Not only during making big decisions but also in her daily life. We look at important moments such as choosing & preparing your food wisely. Happy reading!

CONTENTS

WELLNESS + FITNESS + FOOD

01 EDITOR'S NOTE

03 MEET LEE BSHOFF

06 WOMEN & DEPRESSION IN 2024

EXCLUSIVE!

SETTING TRENDS IN 2024

11 OATS IS A SUPER FOOD

10 WHAT IS LEE'S TRENDING MEAL

03 THE PERFORMANCE
BUG WILL NEVER LEAVE ME

CAN LAUGHTER DECREASE PAIN ?

DEPRESSION ON WOMEN - SOLUTIONS

SALES@KHANATURAL.COM

WWW.KHANATURAL.COM

Meet Lee

March 2023

We caught up with our trending Queen, Lee Boshoff a South African actress and business owner based in the Netherlands. Lee obtained her BA Drama degree at the University of Pretoria in 2013.

Lee has always had a love for the performing arts, whether it is on stage, behind the scenes or in front of the camera, this is why we love her! Some of Lee's theatre performances include, Streetlights with lips directed by Napo Masheane, the award winning "Porselein" directed by Quintin Wills and playing the lead in "My Japan" directed by Andre Stolz and Pit Productions's "Asem" and "Onderwereld" directed by Zak Hendrikz.

As her experience grew, her dream became a reality when she landed the role of "Anja Lategan" in Isidingo on SABC3 in 2017. She then went on to play "Christa Viljoen" in Kyknet's "Sporloos" and "Chantelle Pretorius" in SABC3's The Estate. She made her film debut in 2023 by playing the lead in Kyknet's film "Mini Golf".

Because of her passion for educating and inspiring young minds she also became a lecturer at Pali Incubation. She is also the proud owner of a Children's Theatre Educational company called "What Walrus?".

Lee has a love and passion for people and continues to learn and grow and do her best to motivate others to reach their dreams and goals.

TREND-SETTER
SPRING 2024
KhanaturalMag

Q: South Africa knows and loves you as an actress , a phenomenal one at that ! You've moved to the Netherlands, is the performance bug still on you?

A: To be honest, I know for a fact that the performance bug will never leave me. It is a big part of who I am. Being able to perform allows me to have multiple human experiences in one lifetime! That in itself is so magical. I feel so grateful that I have the opportunity to do something as beautiful as that. What more does one want? Since moving to the Netherlands at the end of 2023, it has been challenging to network and find my way into the performance arts industry here, but if there is one thing I know is that every hurdle has an expiry date. So until then, I do still work as an actor and audition for work in South Africa and I continue to run my Children's theatre company "What Walrus?".

Q: You've always been aware of your health and took wellness seriously whenever we'd see you on set. What's your wellness routine in 2024?

A: I have shifted my wellness focus in 2024 quite a lot. My main focus this year is "Balance". I feel like having a "balanced" life is something I tend to struggle to maintain in this rat race we call life. For many years I only focused on my physical health, but this year I wanted to connect my mind, body and soul.

My wellness routine is as follows:

I prioritize my sleep (8 hours at least)

Limit my screen time, especially before going to bed.

I read a chapter of a book every night before going to bed.

I drink my water and vitamins religiously.

Since moving to the Netherlands we do not own a car, so I ride my bike every single day and try to get my 10 000 steps in everyday (Don't always succeed)

I go to the gym at least 3 times a week.

I follow a banting / keto based diet. (Have been for years)

I walk my dogs and get outside in nature at least once a day

MOST IMPORTANTLY: I connect and touch base with my loved ones as often as I can.

Having a more balanced lifestyle is much easier than I thought and has brought me so much more peace overall.

Q: Have you ever heard of seamoss ? What are your thoughts on this superfood & do they have some in your neck of the Netherlands woods?

A: Yes I have, but I don't know much about it, yet! I do know that it contains antioxidants which is something I always look for in a product. I am now more curious about it! If Khabonina loves seamoss then you know it MUST be good and I am sure I will love it too!

Q: You've got the most amazing genuine heart and energy to match ! How do you stay so positive while making such big life changing moves? Please inspire those contemplating chasing their "scary dreams" !

A: Aww wow! Thank you so much! I have to give my parents the credit for my positive outlook on life. Since I can remember, both my sister and I were raised with the mindset that we hold the key to our own lives. Which means we have control over which doors we unlock and which ones not. In other words, we have the power to control how we react in every situation we face in life. How we react will determine the outcome. In my short lifetime thus far it has been very clear that if I approach any situation with a negative mindset, surely the outcome will be negative too. That is why I choose to be positive everyday. I control my mindset and energy at the end of every day. This helps me to chase and reach any dream that I might have, no matter how "scary" it might seem. Like my Dad always says: "Only if you make it so".

Women and Depression in 2024

KhanaturalMag

Women are more susceptible to depression and anxiety than men. Depression is the leading cause of disease burden for women in both high-income and low- and middle-income countries. Depression following childbirth, affects 20% of mothers in low- and lower-middle-income countries, which is even higher than previous reports from high-income countries.

Every year, an estimated 800 000 people die from suicide globally, the majority being men. However, there are exceptions, for instance in China where the suicide rate in rural areas is higher among women than men. Attempted suicide, which exceeds suicide by up to 20 times, is generally more frequent among women than men and causes an unrecognized burden of disability. At the same time, attempted suicide is an important risk factor for death from suicide and shows the need for appropriate health services for this group.

5 Ways to get through Depression

KhanaturalMag

If you are going through depression, it's best to get help from a therapist. To get the most from your therapy, you can do things to help yourself too.

1. Exercise. Take a 15- to 30-minute brisk walk every day. Or you can dance, play a sport, stretch, or do yoga. People who are depressed may not feel much like being active. Try to get yourself to do it anyway. If you need a push, ask a friend to exercise with you. Getting any activity started helps boost your mood. Keep it going.
2. Eat healthy foods and drink plenty of water. Some people with depression don't feel much like eating. Some may overeat. But what you eat can affect your mood and energy. So with depression, you need to be sure to eat right. For most people, that means plenty of fruits, vegetables, and whole grains.
3. Limit simple carbs and foods with added sugar, like “junk” food or desserts. Don't go for too long without eating. Even if you don't feel hungry, eat something light and healthy. And don't forget to stay hydrated with lots of water. Avoid sugary and caffeinated drinks when possible.
4. Express yourself. With depression, your creativity and sense of fun may seem blocked. But it can help to do things that get your creative juices flowing. Paint, draw, or doodle. Sew, cook, or bake. Write, dance, or compose music. Chat with a friend or play with a pet. Find something to laugh about. Watch a funny movie. Do things you can enjoy. Even a little. That helps turn depression around.
5. Don't dwell on problems. It can feel good to talk through a problem with a caring friend. But depression can lead people to complain, blame, and rehash problems too much. It can keep you focused on what's wrong.

It's OK to air your thoughts and feelings with people who care. But don't let problems be all you talk about. Talk about some good things too. Try to turn your negative thoughts into more positive ones. This can help your mood become more positive.

Notice good things. Depression affects a person's view of things. Things can seem dismal, negative, and hopeless. To shift your view, make it a goal to notice 3 good things in every day. The more you notice what's good, the more good you will notice.

Most of all, if you're going through depression, show yourself some compassion and kindness. When you're going through a hard time, it helps to know you're not alone. Be patient with yourself. Depression takes time to heal.

LAUGHTER IS MEDICINAL

Laughter is the best medicine. It not only heals others, but also helps lighten our daily loads, and brings a smile to our face and everyone we meet. Consider trying this opportunity to bring you and those around you a world of good.

YOU SHOULD LAUGH 17 TO 30 TIMES A DAY !

1. Laughter can actually decrease pain and release happy hormones.
When you laugh, your body releases endorphins, which help you feel happier. These happy hormones boost your mental health. This can also lead to less pain.
2. Laughter causes more oxygen consumption.
The process of laughing increases your respiratory rate. The increased oxygen consumption causes you to enter a state of relaxation for a period of time.
3. Laughing impacts blood sugar.
One study found that watching a funny television show lowered participant's overall increase in glucose levels after a meal, and research has also found that laughter therapy reduces the heart-related complications of type 2 diabetes.

Cottage cheese

FLAT BREAD

Q: Lee, do you cook ? Please share your favourite meal recipes and why this is your go to meal (whether you cook it or buy it)!

A: O yes I do! My favourite go to meal at the moment is the viral "Cottage cheese flatbread". It healthy, high in protein, guilt free and DELICIOUS:

Here is the recipe:

Ingredients:

1 cup of cottage cheese

2 eggs

Salt and pepper

Garlic powder

Rosemary seasoning

Preheat the oven at 200 C.

Blend / mix ingredients together

Place baking paper in an oven tray.

Spray baking paper with a little bit of oil or smear with butter so that the flatbread doesn't stick.

Place blended ingredients on baking paper. Spread the mixture out evenly. Bake for 30 in 200 C until golden brown and the sides become crispy. Enjoy on its own or use the flat bread for your favourite sandwich or wrap.

Q: Do you eat your water ?

A: Hahaha I don't eat my water? Should I be eating it? But I do drink at least 2.5 liters everyday. This is something that I do not skip. Finding a water bottle that I liked really helped me to step up my water intake game!

WHY OATS IS GOATED !

Let's Eat!

Did you also grow up hating oats?! The taste & texture made no sense to a kids mouth! But today , "oats is all we need!" Heres why: The nutrient composition of oats is well-balanced. They are a good source of carbs and fiber, including the fiber beta-glucan Trusted Source.

Oats are also a good source of high quality protein, with a good balance of essential amino acids.

Oats are loaded with important vitamins, minerals, and antioxidant plant compounds.

Half a cup (40.5 g) of dry oats contains :

Manganese: 63.9% of the daily value (DV)

Phosphorus: 13.3% of the DV

Magnesium: 13.3% of the DV

Copper: 17.6% of the DV

Iron: 9.4% of the DV

Zinc: 13.4% of the DV

Folate: 3.2% of the DV

Vitamin B1 (thiamin): 15.5% of the DV

Vitamin B5 (pantothenic acid): 9.1% of the DV smaller amounts of calcium, potassium, vitamin B6 (pyridoxine), and vitamin B3 (niacin)

The nutritional profile of one cup of prepared oatmeal (one half cup dry oats with water) also includes:

27.4 grams (g) of carbs

5.3 g of protein

2.6 g of fat

4 g of fiber

153.5 calories

WELCOME TO OUR

Khanatural Mag Creds !

Editor in Chief - K. Q.

Content research - Khanatural
Team

Art Direction - K.Q

Coordinator & co producer -
Portia Q

Model & Featured artist - Lee
Boshoff

Web Editor - Emmanuel
Ngwenya & Shepard Ndlovu -
Oner service